

TINY FOOTPRINTS

A Memorial Book for Infant Loss
& Stillbirth

By Daniel Tesfamariam

YOUR BABY WAS REAL

Your love was real.

Your pregnancy was real.

Your hopes were real.

Your baby existed.

No matter how brief,
their life mattered.

YOUR grief is valid.

Take all the time you need.

Copyright - Daniel Tesfamariam

All rights reserved.

MY BABY

Name:

Due date:

Birthday:

Weight:

Length:

Hair:

Who was there:

Hospital:

Doctor/midwife:

Time of birth:

Time with baby:

What I want the world to know about my baby:

The day everything changed...

What happened (as much or little as you want to write)...

What people don't understand about this grief...

How I want to honor you...

My body is healing by...

What I need from others right now...

Things I bought for you...

The nursery/plans we made...

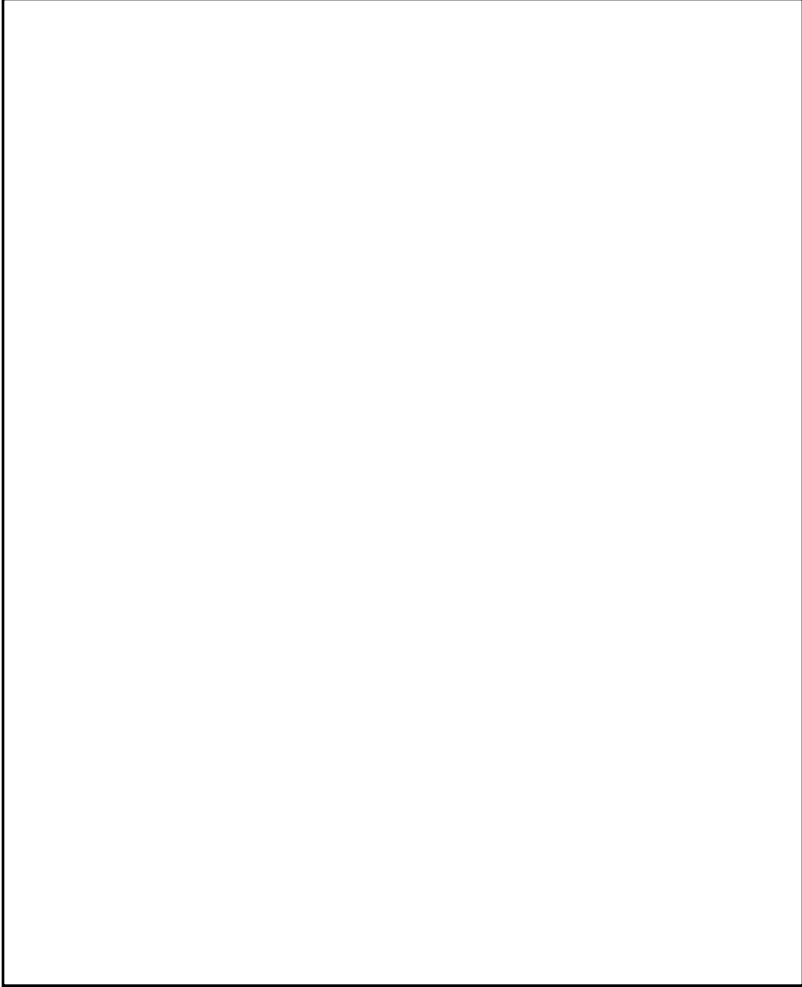

How your father/other parent is grieving...

What brings me peace on the hardest days...

How I am changed by knowing you...

HANDPRINTS & FOOTPRINTS

Place prints, photos, or drawings here:

Date: _____

Notes: _____

All my love forever, _____

DATES THAT MATTER TO ME

These days may be hard. Planning ahead can help:

Due date:

My plan for this day:

Birthday:

My plan for this day:

Day of loss:

My plan for this day:

Mother's Day/Father's Day:

My plan for this day:

Anniversary of finding out:

My plan for this day:

Holidays that feel hardest:

My plan for this day:

Other meaningful dates:

My plan for this day:

SUPPORT RESOURCES

You don't have to walk this alone:

Share Pregnancy & Infant Loss Support:

nationalshare.org

Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep:

nilmdts.org (remembrance photography)

March of Dimes:

marchofdimes.org

Still Standing Magazine:

stillstandingmag.com

The Compassionate Friends:

compassionatefriends.org

Postpartum Support International:

postpartum.net

My therapist/counselor: _____

My support group: _____

People who understand: _____

HOW I WILL HONOR MY BABY

- Light a candle on special days
- Plant a tree or garden
- Donate to infant loss charity
- Create a memory box
- Wear jewelry in remembrance
- Write their name in the sand
- Release balloons or butterflies
- Support other bereaved parents
- Create art or music in their honor
- Say their name - always

My personal way to honor them:

You were wanted.

You were loved.

You are remembered.

Always.

There is no foot so small that it cannot leave an imprint on this world.