WHAT IS ANGER?

Anger is a natural human emotion that signals something feels wrong. It becomes a problem when it is too intense, too frequent, or leads to harmful actions. Anger is not just 'losing your temper' - it is a complex emotional response involving thoughts, physical sensations, and behaviors.

PRIMARY vs SECONDARY EMOTION:

Anger often masks deeper feelings like hurt, fear, or shame.

Learning to identify what is underneath your anger is the first step.

THE COST OF UNMANAGED ANGER:

- Damaged relationships with partner, children, friends
- Health problems: high blood pressure, heart disease, headaches
- Career consequences: lost jobs, missed promotions
- Legal issues: assault charges, restraining orders
- Emotional toll: guilt, shame, isolation

THE GOOD NEWS:

Anger CAN be managed. This workbook will teach you practical tools to understand your triggers, interrupt the anger cycle, and respond rather than react. Change is possible at any age.

MY ANGER TRIGGERS WORKSHEET

Instructions: Identify your personal anger triggers. Be specific.
Rate each trigger 1-10 for intensity. Understanding your triggers is essential for developing an early warning system.

COMMON TRIGGER CATEGORIES:

1. Disrespect / Being dismissed
2. Feeling controlled or powerless
3. Injustice or unfairness
4. Criticism or blame
5. Unmet expectations
6. Feeling overwhelmed or stressed
7. Physical discomfort (tired, hungry, pain)
8. Memories of past trauma

MY PERSONAL TRIGGERS (list at least 5):

Trigger 1: _____

Intensity (1-10): ____ Frequency: Daily / Weekly / Monthly

Trigger 2: _____

Intensity (1-10): ____ Frequency: Daily / Weekly / Monthly

Trigger 3: _____

Intensity (1-10): ____ Frequency: Daily / Weekly / Monthly

Trigger 4: _____

Intensity (1-10): ____ Frequency: Daily / Weekly / Monthly

Trigger 5: _____

Intensity (1-10): ____ Frequency: Daily / Weekly / Monthly

Trigger 6: _____

Intensity (1-10): ____ Frequency: Daily / Weekly / Monthly

Trigger 7: _____

Intensity (1-10): ____ Frequency: Daily / Weekly / Monthly

Trigger 8: _____

Intensity (1-10): ____ Frequency: Daily / Weekly / Monthly

PHYSICAL WARNING SIGNS CHECKLIST

Your body sends signals BEFORE anger takes over. Check all that apply:

- ☐ Jaw clenching or teeth grinding
- ☐ Fists tightening
- ☐ Heart racing or pounding
- ☐ Face feeling hot or flushed
- ☐ Chest tightness
- ☐ Shallow rapid breathing
- ☐ Stomach churning or nausea
- ☐ Muscle tension in shoulders/neck
- ☐ Sweating
- ☐ Voice getting louder
- ☐ Pacing or restlessness
- ☐ Tunnel vision
- ☐ Feeling shaky or trembling
- ☐ Headache developing
- ☐ Feeling 'hot all over'

MY TOP 3 EARLY WARNING SIGNS:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

THE ANGER CYCLE EXPLAINED

Anger follows a predictable cycle. Understanding this cycle gives you power to interrupt it at multiple points.

PHASE 1: TRIGGER (The Spark)

Something happens externally or internally that starts the process. This can be an event, memory, thought, or physical sensation.

PHASE 2: ESCALATION (The Build-Up)

Physical arousal increases. Thoughts become more negative and rigid. This is where early warning signs appear. You still have choices here.

PHASE 3: CRISIS (The Explosion)

Anger reaches peak intensity. Rational thinking shuts down. Fight-or-flight takes over. Harmful actions are most likely here.

PHASE 4: RECOVERY (The Cool-Down)

Physiological arousal gradually decreases. This takes 20-60 minutes. Do NOT try to resolve issues during this phase.

PHASE 5: AFTERMATH (The Consequences)

Guilt, shame, damage assessment. Opportunity for repair and learning.

KEY INSIGHT: The best intervention point is Phase 2 (Escalation).

Once you hit Phase 3, your rational brain is offline.

Learn to recognize Phase 2 and use your Time-Out technique.

THE TIME-OUT TECHNIQUE

The Time-Out is your EMERGENCY BRAKE. Use it when you feel yourself entering Phase 2 of the anger cycle.

STEP 1: RECOGNIZE

Notice your early warning signs (refer to your checklist on page 3).

Say to yourself: 'I am getting angry. I need a time-out.'

STEP 2: ANNOUNCE

Tell the other person calmly: 'I need to take a break. I will be back in [specific time].' Do NOT just storm out.

STEP 3: LEAVE

Go to a pre-planned location. Do NOT drive. Do NOT drink alcohol.

Go for a walk, sit in another room, or step outside.

STEP 4: COOL DOWN (minimum 20 minutes)

Use deep breathing: inhale 4 counts, hold 4, exhale 6.

Do NOT rehearse the argument in your head.

Use physical activity: push-ups, walk, squeeze stress ball.

STEP 5: RETURN

Come back at the time you said. If still escalated, ask for more time. Address the issue when BOTH people are calm.

MY TIME-OUT PLAN:

I will go to: _____

I will do: _____

My cool-down time: _____ minutes

COGNITIVE RESTRUCTURING EXERCISES

Changing the Thoughts That Fuel Your Anger

Your thoughts CREATE your emotions. Angry thoughts = angry feelings.

Challenge distorted thinking patterns with these exercises:

EXERCISE 1: Identify the Hot Thought

Situation: _____

Hot thought (what I told myself): _____

Emotion & intensity (1-10): _____

EXERCISE 2: Evidence For and Against

Hot thought: _____

Evidence FOR this thought: _____

Evidence AGAINST this thought: _____

Balanced thought: _____

EXERCISE 3: Decatastrophizing

Worst case scenario: _____

Best case scenario: _____

Most LIKELY scenario: _____

EXERCISE 4: Perspective Shift

What would I tell a friend in this situation?

EXERCISE 5: The 10-10-10 Rule

Will this matter in 10 minutes? 10 months? 10 years?

COGNITIVE RESTRUCTURING (continued)

EXERCISE 6: Should vs Preference

Change 'He SHOULD respect me' to 'I PREFER to be respected.'

My 'should' statement: _____

Rewritten as preference: _____

EXERCISE 7: Mind-Reading Check

What I assume they meant: _____

What they MIGHT have meant: _____

How can I find out for sure? _____

EXERCISE 8: Responsibility Pie

Situation: _____

My contribution ____% Their contribution ____% Circumstances ____%

EXERCISE 9: Cost-Benefit Analysis

If I act on my anger, what do I GAIN? _____

If I act on my anger, what do I LOSE? _____

Is it worth it? YES / NO

EXERCISE 10: Compassion Challenge

What pain might the other person be carrying?

Does understanding their pain change my response?

ASSERTIVE COMMUNICATION SCRIPTS

5 Common Scenarios with Scripts

SCENARIO 1: Someone disrespects you at work

AGGRESSIVE: 'Who do you think you are talking to me like that?!'

PASSIVE: (Say nothing, seethe internally)

ASSERTIVE: 'When you speak to me that way, I feel disrespected.

I need you to communicate with me professionally.'

SCENARIO 2: Partner criticizes you

AGGRESSIVE: 'You never appreciate anything I do!'

PASSIVE: (Shut down, withdraw)

ASSERTIVE: 'I feel hurt when my efforts are criticized. Can we talk about what you need without blaming?'

SCENARIO 3: Someone cuts you off in traffic

AGGRESSIVE: Tailgate, honk, road rage

PASSIVE: Panic, anxiety spiral

ASSERTIVE: (Self-talk) 'That was dangerous but I am safe. Their driving is not about me. Let it go.'

SCENARIO 4: Child won't listen

AGGRESSIVE: Yelling, threatening, intimidating

PASSIVE: Give up, let child do whatever

ASSERTIVE: 'I need you to [specific behavior] by [specific time].

If you choose not to, the consequence will be [specific].'

SCENARIO 5: Friend borrows money and doesn't pay back

AGGRESSIVE: 'You're a deadbeat! Pay me back NOW!'

PASSIVE: Never mention it, resent them forever

ASSERTIVE: 'I lent you $X on [date]. I need that back by [date].

Can we agree on a plan?'

THE ASSERTIVE FORMULA:

1. When you [specific behavior]...
2. I feel [emotion]...
3. Because [impact on me]...
4. I need [specific request]...

PRACTICE: Write your own assertive script for a current situation:

When you: _____

I feel: _____

Because: _____

I need: _____

CONFLICT RESOLUTION STEPS

Follow these steps AFTER both parties are calm (not during anger):

STEP 1: Choose the right time and place

- Both people must be calm (at least 20 min after conflict)
- Private location, no audience, no distractions
- Ask: 'Is now a good time to talk about what happened?'

STEP 2: Define the problem WITHOUT blame

- Use I-statements, not You-statements
- Stick to ONE issue at a time (no 'kitchen sinking')
- State facts, not interpretations

STEP 3: Listen actively

- Let them finish without interrupting
- Reflect back what you heard: 'So you felt...'
- Ask: 'Did I understand you correctly?'

STEP 4: Acknowledge their perspective

- Validation is NOT agreement. Say: 'I can see why you felt...'
- Find the grain of truth in their complaint

STEP 5: Brainstorm solutions together

- What would work for BOTH of us?
- Be willing to compromise (not capitulate)
- Agree on specific actions going forward

STEP 6: Follow through and check back

- Do what you agreed to do
- Check in: 'How is this working for you?'

MY STRESS MANAGEMENT PLAN

Chronic stress is the fuel that makes anger fires burn hotter.

Build a daily stress management routine:

PHYSICAL: (Choose at least 2)

- ☐ Exercise 30+ minutes daily
- ☐ Progressive muscle relaxation
- ☐ Deep breathing 3x daily
- ☐ Adequate sleep (7-9 hours)
- ☐ Reduce caffeine/sugar

MENTAL: (Choose at least 2)

- ☐ Mindfulness meditation
- ☐ Journaling
- ☐ Cognitive restructuring practice
- ☐ Gratitude practice
- ☐ Limit news/social media

SOCIAL: (Choose at least 1)

- ☐ Talk to a trusted friend weekly
- ☐ Attend a support group
- ☐ Spend quality time with family
- ☐ Volunteer/help others

FORGIVENESS EXERCISES

Forgiveness is NOT condoning, excusing, or forgetting.

Forgiveness is RELEASING the hold resentment has on YOU.

EXERCISE 1: The Resentment Inventory

Person I resent: _____

What they did: _____

How it affected me: _____

My part (if any): _____

What holding this costs me: _____

EXERCISE 2: Empathy Building

What might have been happening in their life?

Were they doing the best they could at the time?

EXERCISE 3: Letting Go Letter (do not send)

Write a letter expressing everything you feel. Then choose to release it. You can destroy the letter as a symbolic act.

EXERCISE 4: Self-Forgiveness

What I did that I regret: _____

What I have learned: _____

How I will do differently: _____

I choose to forgive myself because: _____

Remember: Forgiveness is a PROCESS, not an event.

You may need to choose forgiveness daily for a while.

RELAPSE PREVENTION PLAN

Setbacks are NORMAL. They do not erase your progress.

Plan ahead for high-risk situations:

MY HIGH-RISK SITUATIONS:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

MY WARNING SIGNS THAT I'M SLIPPING:

- Skipping my stress management routine
- Isolating from supportive people
- Increased irritability over small things
- Returning to aggressive language
- Stopping journaling or self-reflection

MY EMERGENCY PLAN:

If I lose my temper, I will:

1. Remove myself immediately (time-out)
2. Call: _____ (my support person)
3. Use grounding: 5 things I can see, 4 I can hear...
4. Review this workbook - especially pages 4-7
5. Be compassionate with myself - one slip is not failure

IF I NEED PROFESSIONAL HELP:

Therapist/Counselor: _____

Crisis line: 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline

Domestic violence hotline: 1-800-799-7233

MY COMMITMENT CONTRACT

I, _____, commit to the following:

1. I will recognize that I am responsible for my own anger.
2. I will use the time-out technique when I feel escalating.
3. I will practice my stress management plan daily.
4. I will communicate assertively, not aggressively.
5. I will be patient with myself during this process.
6. I will ask for help when I need it.
7. I will not use anger to control or intimidate others.
8. I will track my progress honestly in this workbook.
9. I will make amends when I fall short.
10. I choose to be the man my family deserves.

Signed: _____

Date: _____

Witness (optional): _____

You are not your anger. You are the man choosing to change.
