

SHE BELIEVED SHE COULD

A Confidence-Building Workbook
for Girls Ages 9-14

Daniel Tesfamariam

SHE BELIEVED SHE COULD

Author: Daniel Tesfamariam

Format: 8.5 x 11 inches | Kindle & Paperback

All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Chapter 1: You Are Enough

Chapter 2: Dealing With Comparison (Social Media)

Chapter 3: Body Confidence

Chapter 4: Academic Confidence

Chapter 5: Friendship Drama Survival

Chapter 6: Speaking Up

Chapter 7: Trying New Things

Chapter 8: Handling Failure Gracefully

Chapter 9: Saying No (Boundaries for Girls)

Chapter 10: Leadership for Girls

Chapter 11: Dealing With Mean Girls

Chapter 12: Self-Talk Makeover

Chapter 13: Your Unique Superpowers

Chapter 14: Goal Setting

Chapter 15: 30-Day Confidence Challenge

YOU ARE ENOUGH

TRUE STORY

Sophia was twelve when she realized she had been trying to be everyone else. She copied her friend's style, laughed at jokes she did not find funny, and pretended to like music she actually hated. One day her grandmother said something that changed everything: 'Sophia, you are enough exactly as you are.' Those words unlocked something inside her.

THE LESSON

You do not need to be prettier, smarter, funnier, or more popular to be worthy of love and respect. You are enough RIGHT NOW. Not when you lose weight. Not when you get better grades. Not when that popular girl finally notices you. Right now, today, as you are reading this sentence.

You Are Enough - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Write down 10 things that make you uniquely YOU

Activity 2: Create a You Are Enough jar: write compliments to yourself on slips and read one daily

Activity 3: Practice saying 'thank you' instead of deflecting compliments

I am enough. I have always been enough. I will always be enough.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What would change in your life if you truly believed you were enough?

You Are Enough - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about you are enough.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

You Are Enough - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

DEALING WITH COMPARISON (SOCIAL MEDIA)

TRUE STORY

Mia spent three hours every night scrolling through Instagram, comparing her life to perfectly filtered photos. She compared her body, her room, her friends, her vacation, everything. She felt worse every single night but could not stop. Then her older sister showed her behind-the-scenes of an influencer photoshoot: it took 200 photos to get one 'perfect' picture.

THE LESSON

Social media shows you a highlight reel, not reality. Nobody posts their bad hair days, failed tests, or crying-in-the-bathroom moments. When you compare your behind-the-scenes to someone else's highlight reel, you will always feel like you are losing. But it is not a fair comparison.

Dealing With Comparison (Social Media) - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Do a social media audit: unfollow any account that makes you feel bad

Activity 2: Set a daily screen time limit and stick to it for one week

Activity 3: Take a 48-hour social media break and journal how you feel

I refuse to compare my chapter one to someone else's chapter twenty.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

How does your mood change before and after scrolling social media?

Dealing With Comparison (Social Media) - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about dealing with comparison (social media).

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Dealing With Comparison (Social Media) - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

BODY CONFIDENCE

TRUE STORY

Taylor hated her legs. They were too long, she thought. She wore baggy pants even in summer. Then she joined the basketball team and her long legs helped her run faster than anyone else. She realized her body was not meant to look a certain way. It was meant to DO amazing things.

THE LESSON

Your body is not a decoration. It is a vehicle for your life. Your legs carry you on adventures. Your arms hug the people you love. Your brain creates incredible ideas. When you start thinking about what your body can DO instead of how it looks, everything shifts.

Body Confidence - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Write a thank-you letter to your body for everything it does for you

Activity 2: Find a physical activity you genuinely enjoy (not for losing weight, for FUN)

Activity 3: Practice the mirror exercise: look in the mirror and say three kind things

My body is strong, capable, and worthy of love exactly as it is.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What is one amazing thing your body helped you do this week?

Body Confidence - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about body confidence.
What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?
What thoughts were running through your mind?
Now think about a time when you struggled with this.
What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?
Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Body Confidence - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

ACADEMIC CONFIDENCE

TRUE STORY

Priya always said 'I'm not smart enough' before every test. She had convinced herself she was bad at math. Then a new teacher said: 'Priya, you are not bad at math. You just have not found the way that works for YOUR brain yet.' They tried different approaches, and Priya discovered she understood math perfectly when she could visualize it.

THE LESSON

Intelligence is not fixed. Your brain grows and changes every time you learn something new. Saying 'I can not do this' is different from saying 'I can not do this YET.' That one small word changes everything. You are capable of learning anything if you find the right approach and give yourself enough time.

Academic Confidence - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Change 'I can't' to 'I can't YET' for one full week

Activity 2: Ask a teacher for help without feeling ashamed - it is a sign of strength

Activity 3: Teach something you know well to someone else and see how smart you really are

My brain is growing every single day. I am capable of amazing learning.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What is something you thought you could never learn but eventually did?

Academic Confidence - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about academic confidence.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Academic Confidence - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

FRIENDSHIP DRAMA SURVIVAL

TRUE STORY

Jasmine's best friend suddenly started ignoring her in seventh grade. No explanation. No fight. Just silence. Jasmine replayed every conversation trying to figure out what she did wrong. The pain was overwhelming. But she learned that sometimes friendships change and it is nobody's fault.

THE LESSON

Friendship drama is one of the hardest things about growing up. Friends can be mean, exclusive, or suddenly different. Here is what you need to know: if someone excludes you, that says everything about THEM and nothing about you. You deserve friends who make you feel good about yourself.

Friendship Drama Survival - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Write down the qualities you want in a true friend

Activity 2: Practice the three-day rule: if drama still hurts after three days, talk about it

Activity 3: Identify one person you could reach out to who might need a friend too

I deserve friendships that lift me up, not tear me down.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What does a true friend look like to you?

Friendship Drama Survival - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about friendship drama survival.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Friendship Drama Survival - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

Chapter 6

SPEAKING UP

TRUE STORY

Aisha had an opinion about everything but never shared any of them. In class, she would think of brilliant answers but never raise her hand. She was terrified of being wrong, of being laughed at, of being too much. Then her debate teacher told her: 'Your ideas deserve to be heard. The world needs your voice.'

THE LESSON

Your voice matters. Your opinions matter. Your ideas matter. Speaking up can feel terrifying, especially when you are the only girl in the room, the youngest person, or the one who disagrees. But silence never changed anything. Every woman who changed the world first had to open her mouth and speak.

Speaking Up - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Raise your hand in class at least once every day this week

Activity 2: Practice giving your opinion to safe people first (family, close friends)

Activity 3: Record yourself giving a two-minute speech about something you care about

My voice deserves to be heard. My ideas have value.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What is something you have been wanting to say but have been holding back?

Speaking Up - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about speaking up.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Speaking Up - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

TRYING NEW THINGS

TRUE STORY

Emma was terrified of being bad at things. So she only did things she was already good at. Her world got smaller and smaller until one day she was bored out of her mind. Her mom challenged her to try one new thing every month. The first month she tried rock climbing and was terrible. But she laughed the whole time.

THE LESSON

Here is a secret that confident people know: you are SUPPOSED to be bad at new things at first. That is how learning works. Nobody picks up a guitar and plays a perfect song on day one. Giving yourself permission to be a beginner is one of the bravest things you can do.

Trying New Things - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Try one brand new activity this month (something you have never done)

Activity 2: Give yourself permission to be terrible at it and enjoy the process

Activity 3: Make a 'Things I Want to Try' list with at least 20 items

I give myself permission to be a beginner. Growth happens outside comfort zones.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What is something you have always wanted to try but been afraid to start?

Trying New Things - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about trying new things.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Trying New Things - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

HANDLING FAILURE GRACEFULLY

TRUE STORY

Zoe studied for weeks for the science fair. She was sure she would win. She did not even place. She cried in the bathroom for twenty minutes. But then something interesting happened: she looked at the winning projects and realized what she could learn from them. The next year, she won first place.

THE LESSON

Failure is not the opposite of success. It is the PATH to success. Every successful woman you admire has failed dozens, hundreds, maybe thousands of times. The difference is that they got back up. They learned. They adjusted. And they tried again. Failure does not mean you are not good enough. It means you are brave enough to try.

Handling Failure Gracefully - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Write about a time you failed and what you learned from it

Activity 2: Interview a woman you admire about her biggest failure

Activity 3: Reframe failure: instead of 'I failed' say 'I learned that this approach does not work'

Failure is not my enemy. It is my teacher. I learn and grow from every setback.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What is the most important lesson a failure has taught you?

Handling Failure Gracefully - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about handling failure gracefully.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Handling Failure Gracefully - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

SAYING NO (BOUNDARIES FOR GIRLS)

TRUE STORY

Lily said yes to everything because she was afraid people would not like her if she said no. She was exhausted, overwhelmed, and resentful. She was on five committees, helped everyone with homework, and never had time for herself. Learning to say no was the hardest and most important thing she ever did.

THE LESSON

No is a complete sentence. You do not owe anyone an explanation for protecting your time, your energy, or your body. Saying no to things that drain you means saying YES to things that matter. People who respect you will respect your no.

Saying No (Boundaries for Girls) - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Practice saying no to one small thing this week

Activity 2: Write down your non-negotiable boundaries (things you will always say no to)

Activity 3: Notice how you feel after saying no. Relief? That means it was the right choice

No is a complete sentence. I protect my energy without guilt.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What is something you need to say no to but have been afraid to?

Saying No (Boundaries for Girls) - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about saying no (boundaries for girls).

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Saying No (Boundaries for Girls) - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

LEADERSHIP FOR GIRLS

TRUE STORY

When Maria ran for class president, someone said girls should not be leaders because they were 'too emotional.' Maria won the election and proved that emotions like empathy and compassion actually made her a BETTER leader. She listened to people. She cared about solutions that helped everyone.

THE LESSON

Leadership is not about being bossy or loud or aggressive. Leadership is about having a vision, inspiring others, making tough decisions, and serving your community. Girls make extraordinary leaders because we often lead with empathy, collaboration, and creativity.

Leadership for Girls - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Identify one area of your life where you already lead (maybe without realizing)

Activity 2: Volunteer to lead one small project or group this month

Activity 3: Study a female leader you admire - what makes her leadership style effective?

I am a natural leader. My style of leading makes the world better.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What kind of leader do you want to be?

Leadership for Girls - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about leadership for girls.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Leadership for Girls - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

DEALING WITH MEAN GIRLS

TRUE STORY

Chloe was bullied by a group of popular girls who spread rumors about her. It felt like her world was ending. But her school counselor taught her something powerful: hurt people hurt people. Those girls were dealing with their own pain and taking it out on others. It did not make it okay, but it helped Chloe stop blaming herself.

THE LESSON

Mean behavior says everything about the person being mean and nothing about you. You cannot control how others treat you, but you can control how you respond. You can refuse to shrink yourself. You can refuse to believe their words. And you can always ask for help from trusted adults.

Dealing With Mean Girls - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Write down the mean words and then physically throw the paper away

Activity 2: Build your support team: identify three trusted adults you can go to

Activity 3: Practice the 'gray rock' technique: be boring and unresponsive to bullies

Other people's cruelty does not define my worth. I rise above.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

How do you handle it when someone is mean to you?

Dealing With Mean Girls - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about dealing with mean girls.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Dealing With Mean Girls - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

SELF-TALK MAKEOVER

TRUE STORY

Olivia realized she said things to herself that she would NEVER say to her best friend. She called herself stupid, ugly, and worthless multiple times a day. When she started paying attention to her inner voice, she was shocked at how cruel it was. She decided to talk to herself the way she would talk to someone she loves.

THE LESSON

Your inner voice is the most powerful voice in your life because you hear it constantly. If that voice is cruel and critical, you are being bullied 24/7 by your own mind. The good news is that you can retrain your inner voice. You can choose thoughts that build you up instead of tear you down.

Self-Talk Makeover - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: For one day, write down every negative thought you have about yourself

Activity 2: Replace each negative thought with a kind alternative

Activity 3: Create a phone wallpaper with your favorite positive affirmation

I speak to myself with kindness, patience, and love.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

If your best friend could hear your inner voice, what would she think?

Self-Talk Makeover - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about self-talk makeover.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Self-Talk Makeover - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

YOUR UNIQUE SUPERPOWERS

TRUE STORY

Ava was quiet in a world that rewards loudness. She thought being introverted was a weakness until she discovered that her ability to listen deeply, observe carefully, and think before speaking were actually rare and valuable superpowers. Not everyone has to be the loudest person in the room to make an impact.

THE LESSON

You have superpowers that nobody else has. Maybe you are incredibly empathetic. Maybe you are creative, analytical, brave, funny, kind, determined, or imaginative. Your unique combination of qualities is your superpower. Stop trying to develop someone else's strengths and start celebrating your own.

Your Unique Superpowers - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Ask five people who know you well: What do you think my superpower is?

Activity 2: Write your personal superpower statement and put it where you see it daily

Activity 3: Use your superpower to help someone else this week

My unique qualities are my superpowers. Nobody else has my exact combination.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What superpower do you have that you have been undervaluing?

Your Unique Superpowers - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about your unique superpowers.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Your Unique Superpowers - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

GOAL SETTING

TRUE STORY

Isabella wanted to become a published author by age fifteen. Everyone told her to be realistic. But she broke that big dream into small steps: write 500 words daily, finish a manuscript in six months, research publishers. On her fifteenth birthday, she held her published book. The 'unrealistic' dream became real through consistent small steps.

THE LESSON

Big dreams become real when you break them into small, actionable steps. A goal without a plan is just a wish. But a goal with daily actions, deadlines, and accountability becomes inevitable. You are capable of achieving extraordinary things when you commit to showing up consistently.

Goal Setting - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Write one big dream and break it into 10 small steps

Activity 2: Set a 30-day goal and track your progress daily

Activity 3: Find an accountability partner who will check in with you weekly

I turn my dreams into plans and my plans into reality.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

What is your biggest dream for the next year? What is step one?

Goal Setting - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about goal setting.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

Goal Setting - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

30-DAY CONFIDENCE CHALLENGE

TRUE STORY

This is not just reading anymore. This is DOING. For the next thirty days, you will take one small confidence-building action every single day. Some days will feel easy. Some will feel terrifying. But by day thirty, you will be a different girl. A braver girl. A girl who knows her worth.

THE LESSON

Confidence is not something you either have or do not have. It is a SKILL that you build through action. Every time you do something brave, your confidence muscle gets stronger. This challenge is designed to strengthen that muscle day by day.

30-Day Confidence Challenge - Activities

THREE ACTIVITIES TO BUILD THIS SKILL:

Activity 1: Day 1-10: Internal confidence (affirmations, self-talk, journaling)

Activity 2: Day 11-20: Social confidence (speaking up, new conversations, boundaries)

Activity 3: Day 21-30: Bold confidence (trying new things, leading, taking risks)

Every day I become braver, stronger, and more confident in who I am.

(Write this affirmation 3 times below):

JOURNAL PROMPT:

Which day of the challenge are you most nervous about? That is the one that will change you most.

30-Day Confidence Challenge - Going Deeper

CONFIDENCE BUILDER EXERCISE:

Think about a time when you felt confident about 30-day confidence challenge.

What was different about that moment? How did your body feel?

What thoughts were running through your mind?

Now think about a time when you struggled with this.

What changed? What triggered the loss of confidence?

Write about both experiences below and notice the patterns:

MY CONFIDENCE COMMITMENT:

This week I will practice confidence by:

30-Day Confidence Challenge - Reflection & Growth

BEFORE AND AFTER:

Rate your confidence in this area (1-10):

Before reading this chapter: ____/10

After completing the activities: ____/10

WHAT I WANT TO REMEMBER:

A LETTER TO MYSELF:

Write an encouraging note to yourself for a hard day:

YOU DID IT!

You have completed this workbook.

But this is just the beginning of your confidence journey.

Remember: She believed she could, so she did.

And that 'she' is YOU.

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

PERSONAL GROWTH JOURNAL

What resonated with me most:

Actions I will take:

My commitment:

REFLECTION & ACTION STEPS

Key takeaways from this section:

How this applies to my life:

Questions I still have:

MY ACTION PLAN

Use this space for your thoughts and reflections:

GROWTH JOURNAL

Use this space for your thoughts and reflections:

MY ACTION PLAN

Use this space for your thoughts and reflections:

GROWTH JOURNAL

Use this space for your thoughts and reflections:

MY ACTION PLAN

Use this space for your thoughts and reflections:

