UNDERSTANDING CHRONIC PAIN

Chronic pain is REAL. It is not 'in your head.'

Gate Control Theory (simplified):

Your brain has a 'gate' that controls how much pain signal gets through.

Things that OPEN the gate (more pain): stress, poor sleep, fear, focus

Things that CLOSE the gate (less pain): relaxation, distraction, movement

PAIN vs SUFFERING:

Pain = the physical sensation (you may not control this fully)

Suffering = the mental/emotional response (you CAN influence this)

This journal helps you manage BOTH.

FLARE-UP ACTION PLAN

When pain spikes, follow this plan:

- 1. STOP what you're doing. Rest is not failure.
- 2. Medication: Take _____ (as prescribed)
- 3. Position: _____ (best position for my pain)
- 4. Heat/Ice: _____ for ____ minutes
- 5. Breathing: 4-7-8 breathing x 5 rounds
- 6. Distraction: _____ (audio book, TV, music)
- 7. Tell someone: _____ (so you're not alone)
- 8. Remind yourself: This will pass. Flares are temporary.

My emergency comfort kit contains:

PACING ACTIVITIES WORKSHEET

Pacing = doing activities in manageable chunks with planned rest.

NOT pushing through pain. NOT resting until you feel 100%.

Activity	Current limit	Paced version	Rest after

Example: Cleaning -> 15 min max -> Break 10 min -> Repeat if able

What I want them to know: _____

[illegible]

PAIN ACCEPTANCE: WILLINGNESS

Willingness means making room for pain WITHOUT fighting it.

Fighting pain (tensing, bracing, fearing) often makes it WORSE.

What would change if I stopped fighting the pain?

What am I missing by focusing all energy on fighting?

Can I hold pain AND still do something meaningful today?

PAIN ACCEPTANCE: VALUES

Pain has narrowed my life. What do I still VALUE?

Relationships: _____

Activities: _____

Purpose: _____

One small step toward a value TODAY (despite pain):

PAIN ACCEPTANCE: DEFUSION

Thoughts about pain are not COMMANDS.

Instead of 'I can't do anything,' try: 'I'm having the thought that I can't do anything.'

A thought about pain I'm fused with:

Defused version ('I notice I'm having the thought that...'):

Does this thought serve me? ☐ Yes ☐ No

What would I do if I didn't believe this thought?

GRATITUDE DESPITE PAIN

This is not toxic positivity. This is choosing to notice what's ALSO true.
