UNDERSTANDING PTSD

PTSD can develop after experiencing or witnessing trauma.

Types of trauma that can cause PTSD:

- Single incident (accident, assault, disaster)
- Complex/repeated (childhood abuse, domestic violence, war)
- Vicarious (first responders, therapists, witnesses)

Core symptoms:

Re-experiencing: flashbacks, nightmares, intrusive thoughts

Avoidance: avoiding reminders, emotional numbing

Hyperarousal: hypervigilance, startle response, insomnia

Negative changes: beliefs about self/world, guilt, shame

Recovery IS possible. Your brain can heal.

This workbook uses evidence-based approaches:

- Cognitive Processing Therapy (CPT)
- Grounding techniques
- Safety planning
- Post-traumatic growth framework
